Edward Lear's Limericks Copywork

Edward Lear was a talented author and illustrator who lived in England during the 19th century. He is best known for his nonsense poems which were written in an AABBA rhyme scheme.

These humorous verses, known as limericks, depicted zany people doing strange and outrageous deeds. Lear's intent was to make the readers of his books chuckle and grin over these wild antics.

Now your child can laugh at some of the wacky poetry of this well-known author. In Edward Lear's Limericks Copywork, you'll find a collection of not only the poems of Lear, but also some of his original black and white illustrations.

Homeschooling with a Touch of Class copywork is designed to provide you with copy material for children at various stages of handwriting development as well as bonus features for making handwriting practice fun.

The copywork text is printed in 8 different handwriting formats. They are:

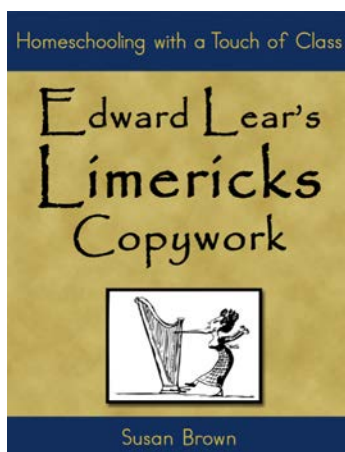

dotted traditional manuscript without rule lines,
dotted traditional manuscript with primary lines,
solid traditional manuscript with blank primary lines for copying,
solid traditional manuscript with blank standard lines for copying,
dotted traditional cursive without rule lines,
dotted traditional cursive with primary lines,
solid traditional cursive with blank primary lines for copying, solid traditional cursive with blank standard lines for copying.

To make copywork a more enjoyable experience, these extra features have been included:

Black and white illustrations for children to color.
Suggestions for fun copywork projects.
A list of classical music selections for children to listen to while copying the text.

These have been developed to not only take the stress out of handwriting practice, but to also address the needs of children with different learning styles.
